More Towns In Ontario See Streets Flooded

People of Thamesville Move to Higher Ground as River Waters Inundate Homes and Stores; Parts of Chatham Under Water

Shortage of Pure Water at London

Canadian Press
Thamesville, Ont., April 28.—Practically the whole of the town of Thamesville, about fifteen miles north-east of Chatham, was under water today as the waters of the Thames River spread from their banks. At noon the main business intersection of the town was under eight feet of water.

Motor trucks and boats moved 2,000 persons to higher ground. Telephone wires in the district are threatened by the waters, raising the possibility the town might be isolated.

On nearby farms efforts were made to save livestock. At Chatham the Thames reached thirteen feet above normal, the water entering basements and flooding fields and roads.

RAIN AT INTERVALS

Toronto, April 28.—Flood waters of the Thames, a trail of death and damage in their wake, roared south today toward Lake St. Clair, pouring over thousands of acres of farm lands and flooding the village of Thamesville.

A clouded sky hung over the Ontario area between Lakes Erie, St. Clair and Huron and intermittent rains fell, increasing the anxiety. In northern Lambton County the flood menace raised its head at Port Frank, summer resort. The Ausable River broke loose and wrecked summer cottages and flooded streets of the village, situated on Lake Huron.

LONDON'S PROBLEMS

London, Ont., April 28.—Several hundred Department of Works employees and firemen joined flood victims today in clearing London's flood zone as the waters of the Thames River receded.

In West London muddy ooze covered floors of stores, homes and business establishments. The mud was six and eight inches deep on floors close to the river and a foot thick in some streets.

Motorized snowploughs were brought into service to shovel the mud and slime from the streets. The shortage of pure water for domestic use grew acute this afternoon.

"The situation is extremely acute," said E. V. Buchanan, manager of the public utilities. "Unless we receive absolute co-operation we may have to discontinue all service this afternoon."

"We have barely 3,000,000 gallons available and there is a normal daily (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

Aurora Interferes With Wire Services

From Prairies to Atlantic and Down Into U.S. News and Other Telegram Messages Delayed Today; Slight Trouble in B.C. Last Night

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, April 28.—Aurora borealis, the enemy of the telegraph services, struck in record fashion throughout much of Canada today. Not for ten years has the Magnetic Pole's interference been so widespread.

From the prairies to the Maritimes and into the United States, telegraph wires were gripped by the excess current radiated from the northern magnetic pole. Wires were grounded as operators in Canadian National and Canadian Pacific offices fought to maintain connections.

RECORDS SET

Veterans of the services could not recall a time when the aurora borealis reached into so great a territory. From Halifax to the prairies the Northern Lights danced across the wires, cutting into news service communication lines for hours at a time. Excess current became so great in the Canadian Pacific operating room at Sudbury, Ont., all circuits were

Roosevelt Signs U.S. Naval Bill

Washington, April 28.—The White House announced today President Roosevelt had signed the $500,000,000 United States naval appropriation bill for the 1938 fiscal year before leaving for a fishing cruise in southern waters. The appropriation was only slightly below that for the current year, which set a peacetime record.

KING TO SPEAK FOUR MINUTES

Sovereign's Coronation Night Broadcast to Be Heard Here at 11 in Forenoon

Canadian Press
London, April 28.—Garry Allighan, writing in The London Evening Standard today, said final plans for the King's Coronation night broadcast were approved at Buckingham Palace conference yesterday.

It had been the original plan to allot the King ten minutes for his speech—the time used by King George V in his Christmas talks—but yesterday, Allighan said, it was decided the broadcast would begin at 8 p.m. (11 a.m. P.S.T.) and finish at 8:05 p.m.

The actual speaking time, this writer declared, would not exceed four minutes and would be preceded and followed by an impressive silence. "There has been the impression in some quarters that the royal broadcast is to be from a record previously made," Allighan wrote. "I am asked to correct this misapprehension. The King will be present in person before the microphone in the Regency room of Buckingham Palace and will be introduced by Sir John Reith, head of the British Broadcasting Corporation."

Ontario Man Is Shot By Robber

Canadian Press
Rockland, Ont., April 28.—Left to die by a holdup man who had robbed him of $100 and shot him through the temple, Dominic Ducharme, twenty-nine, Three Rivers, Que., was found slumped over the wheel of an automobile on a highway near here today. Physicians stated he had a chance to recover.

He said he had been robbed by a man to whom he had given a lift. He was taken to a hospital in Ottawa, fifteen miles away.

LEAGUE COUNCIL SESSION

Geneva, April 28 (Associated Press).—The ninety-seventh session of the League of Nations Council was called today for May 24.

disconnected to prevent blown fuses.

It extended to North Bay, Timmins, south to Sault Ste. Marie and into the western part of southern Ontario, where wires to Stratford, Kitchener and Guelph were disrupted. Communication from Winnipeg to the head of the Great Lakes was irregular.

NEWS DELAYED

Between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal the aurora had its fling, delaying transmission of news reports and cutting up commercial services for a while. An unusual feature was the appearance of the interference on the short-distance circuit. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Saanich Liberals Nominate Tonight

The nominating convention of the Saanich Liberal Association will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at Hampton Hall. All Liberals of the district are invited but only Saanich members in good standing will be permitted to vote. It is expected a member of the cabinet will be the speaker of the evening. Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., is expected to again be nominated.

Pictorial Forecast of Coronation Pageantry

If readers of The Times will imagine the stands at the right gay with bunting and royal insignia and filled with colorful throngs, they will have an impression of what the coronation spectacle will look like to the average Londoner, for pictured is the State Coach passing through Parliament Square in a rehearsal of the great procession. Guards line the curbs. In the background is seen the famed Big Ben clock on the Parliament Buildings, whose tower will afford one of the best views of the procession.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS

The race of British Columbia's political parties to put their respective candidates in the field for the June 1 provincial general elections swung along today with another dozen added overnight to the mounting list of those who will seek seats in the next Legislature.

Tonight Liberals will name candidates in Saanich and Vancouver East. Conservatives are slated to choose candidates for Vancouver Centre.

The latest check-up shows sixty-seven party standard bearers chosen in the forty-eight ridings. This total includes sixteen Liberals, thirteen Conservatives, thirteen C.C.F., three Social Constructives, nineteen Social Credit and three others.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipal Affairs, was named at a Liberal convention in New Westminster last night to contest the seat again. Mr. Gray has represented New Westminster in the Legislature since 1927.

Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., was Hon. A. Wells Gray's opponent in the Vancouver Centre last night. His running mate is Alderman Fred Cronk, taking the place in the Liberal ranks of Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan who resigned the seat when elevated to the bench of the Court of Appeal.

The Conservative leader, Dr. Frank Patterson, was unanimously chosen as the party's candidate in Dewdney riding last night. So far his only opposition is D. W. Strachan, who held the seat for the Liberals in the last House, but the other parties are expected to put men in the field (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Francoists Bar U.S. Film Stars

Salamanca, Spain, April 28.—Charlie Chaplin and five other film stars today were officially branded persons non grata on motion picture screens in Spanish insurgent-controlled territory. The others were Frederic March, Franchot Tone, James Gurney, Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Joan Crawford. Alleged participation of the actors in a recent Hollywood benefit for the Spanish government was the cause of the decree.

Basque Force Holds Church Against Rebels

Defenders Make Desperate Stand at Durango to Save Bilbao, Northern Spain, But Insurgents Reported Already Past Town

Associated Press
Events in the Spanish war area today:

Durango—Insurgent northern forces kept from occupying "gateway" town by Basques in fortified church, but some encircle Durango to march on Bilbao, Basque capital.

Bilbao—Authorities pour concrete fortifications, build air raid shelters to withstand siege; study evacuation of all women and children.

Valencia—Basques charge "German-Italian headquarters" ordered aerial bombardment of Guernica which killed 800 civilians.

Madrid—Insurgent forces launch counter-attack on Teruel front, their nearest to Mediterranean coast.

Associated Press

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Border, April 28.—Grimly determined Basques turned a Durango church into a fortress today in a dramatic attempt to stem the march of strong insurgent northern armies on Bilbao, their regional capital.

The Basques, members of three decimated battalions, crammed the church of Santa Maria in Durango, just sixteen miles from Bilbao, and blasted at insurgent attackers in ferocious salvos.

But insurgent advances indicated their stand might be in vain. These reports said the vanguard of one of three insurgent columns which are marching to the sea had captured Durango and, already, was hurrying virtually unopposed along the broad highway toward Bilbao.

ITALIANS AND GERMANS

An advance guard of 8,000 Italians and Germans, Spanish insurgent forces said today, is the driving force in the advance against Bilbao.

The troops are chiefly artillery men with motorized four-inch guns, the officers said. Italians were mixed with Germans "just so the Italian's won't repeat the Brihuega adventure," they added. Defeat of Italian (Turn to Page 16, Col. 6)

Nominated

DR. FRANK PATTERSON

Canadian Press
Mission City, B.C., April 28.—Dr. Frank Patterson, leader of the British Columbia Conservative Party, was named by a nominating convention here last night to contest Dewdney constituency in the coming provincial general election.

Dr. Patterson's selection was unanimous. The Conservative leader again voiced his opposition to the recent announcement by Premier Pattullo of the proposed amalgamation of Yukon territory with British Columbia.

Excess of expenditure by the federal government, which now administers the territory, Dr. Patterson said, was $800,800 a year, adding, he thought, the debt of the province was large enough without looking for more.

"This matter should be treated by the elected representatives of the people," he declared.

Mr. Courtney has installed a telephone in his office, the number of which is Empire 2815.

Funds Allotted For Playgrounds

Sum of $10,000 Set Aside For Improvements; $2,500 in Victoria Area

Negotiations between Hon. F. M. MacPherson, B.C. Minister of Public Works, and Hon. Norman Rogers, the federal minister, have resulted in the allocation of $10,000 in this year's works programme for the improvement of playgrounds at British Columbia centres.

Of this amount $2,500 will be spent on Lower Vancouver Island, it is understood, including $1,500 in Victoria, $500 in Saanich, $500 in Esquimalt and $500 in the Islands district.

Under the scheme playgrounds and sports centres for children will be improved and built up with a view to encouraging sports and athletics.

Byron "Boss" Johnson, former member for Victoria in the Legislature, has been active in supporting the proposal as an adjunct to a larger plan for the construction of sports auditoriums.

Canada's Coronation Soldiers Voyaging

Army and Air Force Groups Given Hearty Send-off As They Sail From Montreal For London

Canadian Press
Montreal, April 28.—Canada today sent her military forces of land and air to the Coronation.

Laden with singing, cheering troops, the liner Montcalm started off down the St. Lawrence River in the first departure of uniformed soldiers from this inland port since Great War days.

Thousands of Montrealers lined the riverfront as Canada's official military contingent to King George's coronation sailed away. Bands blared, bagpipes shrieked and river shipping tolled a raucous godspeed to the London-bound voyagers.

Hundreds of civilians sailed in this vanguard of the final Coronation movement. Aboard the Montcalm are 160 schoolboys, chosen from all over Canada, as well as individual excursionists.

Hon. John Hart Announces Government Decision to Clear and Grade Road From Phillips Creek to Port Renfrew; Twenty-two Miles Along Bench Route Will Be Opened

Immediate Start On $100,000 Project Planned

The West Coast Road, from Phillips Creek, four and a half miles beyond Jordan River, to Port Renfrew will be cleared and graded this year to make a passable road into that port, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, announced today.

Last of Pay Cuts Restored

Cabinet and Members Now Only Ones in B.C. Service With Cuts

All members of the B.C. civil service were back on full pre-depression pay levels today as April cheques went out from the provincial treasury restoring the last of the cuts made in 1931 and 1932.

The latest restorations apply to those earning $1,800 a year and more. Those earning less had their salaries restored last year. The government payroll is boosted about $7,000 monthly by today's increase.

Cabinet ministers and members of the Legislature are now the only persons on the government salary list not receiving their full 1929 pay. The cabinet ministers now draw $6,000 salary and $1,600 seasonal indemnity, a total of $7,600, against $7,500 salary and $2,000 indemnity previously. The Prime Minister receives $7,200 and $1,600, or $8,800, against $11,000 previously, made up of $9,000 and $2,000. A 20 per cent cut on these salaries was effected by statute and cannot be restored without an act of the Legislature.

As a result of these representations we have changed our policy of surfacing as we went along," said Mr. Hart. "The road will be open by the end of the year and Victoria will be able to take advantage of the business that may be available."

Mr. Hart said the project will get under way immediately. Government engineers will decide on the final location of the road, which is to be built along the bench route.

OPEN BY END OF YEAR

The job involves about twenty-two miles of grading and clearing, and the construction of some thirty-four bridges, most of which are over dry gullies and small creeks. The only spans of any size are over Sombrio River and Loss Creek.

During the last few years relief camp workers have pushed the highway past Jordan River, with a good surface for four and a half miles to Phillips Creek and another two and a half miles of cleared grade. Last year a pack trail was put through to Port Renfrew and this will serve as a working trail for the road crews.

Mr. Hart said the work would be part of the joint Dominion-provincial road programme.

URGED LONG TIME

Opening of the West Coast Road as far as Port Renfrew has long been urged by the Chamber of Commerce and other representative groups in Victoria.

Big timber developments are under way in the Port Renfrew section. Local interests claim that with the road opened Victoria would receive much business in the way of sending supplies and getting timber from the district. At present a large amount of this business goes to Vancouver.

The link to Port Renfrew is regarded as the first piece of an ocean highway which eventually may extend to Nanaimo on the Alberni Canal, furnishing a beautiful route along the open Pacific for tourist purposes.

To Announce Road Plans

The British Columbia government tomorrow will announce its plans for hard-surfacing of main highways during the coming year. For several weeks the Department of Public Works has been working out the details which have now been completed.

ACADEMIES CLOSED

Warsaw, Poland, April 28 (Associated Press).—Anti-Semitic riots caused the indefinite closing today of the academies of commerce and agriculture. The ministry of education announced the action had been taken because of repeated clashes between Polish and Jewish students.

BODIES AWAITING BURIAL BURNED

Chicoutimi, Que., April 28.—Fire which consumed the little mortuary chapel in the neighboring parish of St. Joseph d'Alma, destroyed sixty bodies awaiting burial, it was revealed today.

The flames broke out late yesterday and quickly destroyed the small building in which the bodies had been housed for burial in warmer weather.

Bids Called On Malahat Work

Reconstruction to Proceed On Cousin's Hill For Mile and a Half

Tenders were called by the B.C. Department of Public Works today for further reconstruction work on the Malahat Drive as an extension of the work done during the last winter.

Bids are asked for reconstruction of one and one-half miles of the road between mile 17.5 and mile 19. This is the section known as Cousin's Hill, and extends past the Shawanigan Lake cut-off road. It is the worst hill on the Malahat, and the new work is designed to eliminate all the dangerous features, Arthur Dixon, chief engineer, stated.

It is the first contract called for in the 1937 Dominion-provincial road programme. Bids will be called on other projects as they are approved by the federal government.

cuts in Ontario and Quebec and down to Halifax.

"Clock aurora," was the description given by the telegraph officials to the latest attack. It charges the wires and appears with pendulum-like regularity, they said, especially severe on high speed signals of the mechanical telegraph systems.

Wires running from east to west generally bear the brunt of the aurora, but today it hit north-south communications also.

The aurora interfered with communication lines in British Columbia for a time last night, but was not noticeable today.

Associated Press

Seattle, April 28.—Sunspots are interfering with short wave radio communication and ships all over the world are having difficulty in reporting their positions. H. W. Underwood, chief operator of the harbor department wireless station here, said today, "It will be a week tomorrow since the interference began," he said. "Formerly we had an average of one bad day a month. When Old Sol gets over his attacks, I guess we'll be back to normal again."

Alaska communications system officials said the "fading" was now the worst in the history of their short wave sending to Alaska, disrupting their service severely.

Reports from United States authorities of the interference being suffered in short wave communication were supported in Victoria today by Sub-inspector Cecil Clark of the headquarters staff of the provincial police.

Inspector Clark reported the headquarters operator recently had experienced considerable interruption caused by sunspots which had partially disrupted the daily schedule on various occasions. The interruption had taken the form of static and fading, he said.

Bilbao Ship
Protests Made

British Government's Message to Franco Is Answered By Him

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, April 28.—Britain and General Francisco Franco have opened a long-range battle with protests over Bilbao.

Britain scored first. When three British food ships broke the Bilbao "blockade" under the shadow of the battleship Hood's 15-inch guns, Britain protested that a Spanish insurgent cruiser had interfered with British merchant ships on the high seas.

Now it is Franco's turn. He lodged a verbal protest with Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador now at Hendaye, France, on the grounds that (1) the British food ships were conveyed by the navy and (2) that the British destroyer Firedrake entered the three-mile zone.

Britain denies the food ships were conveyed. The Hood "happened" to be in the vicinity when the French cruiser stopped the British food ships on the high seas. It is part of Britain's policy to give every protection possible to British ships on the high seas. Secondly, the Firedrake did not enter the three-mile zone. She merely marked the limits of the three-mile zone.

Yukon Proposal
Is Confirmed

Acting Premier Dandurand Says Year Required to Make Transfer to B.C.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 28.—Senator Raoul Dandurand, acting Prime Minister, confirmed today that negotiations between the Dominion and British Columbia governments over the Yukon territory have reached an advanced stage.

At the conclusion of a cabinet meeting Senator Dandurand said the statement made in Victoria Monday night by Premier T. D. Pattullo was substantially correct. At that time Premier Pattullo said British Columbia could acquire the Yukon, agreement with the Dominion having been reached. Negotiations were conducted by Premier Pattullo and Hon. Thomas Crerar, Minister of Mines, now on his way to London for the Coronation.

YEAR IS NEEDED
Senator Dandurand said the agreement would be approved formally by the two governments before ratification by Parliament. This would mean a year's delay before administration of the territory would be transferred.

COMMENTS BY LEADERS

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 28.—Dr. Frank Patterson, British Columbia Conservative leader, commenting on the proposal that the province take the Yukon within its boundaries, said: "I deeply resent the introduction of this matter as a party issue. It is a matter for the elected representatives of the people, and should be presented in the Legislature."

"Dr. Lyle Telford, president of the provincial Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party, said:

"It would seem to me that we have enough undeveloped territory in British Columbia and plenty of work ahead with it. I see no reason why we should be burdened with another huge slice of unpopulated land."

SCHOOL QUESTION

Former Speaker George Black of the Yukon, in the course of his comment, mentioned the separate school question. He said:

"In Yukon, people of different religious beliefs have separate schools for their children. Public schools for protestants and all who choose to attend them, and separate schools for those of the Roman Catholic faith who prefer them. Will British Columbia support such separate schools? If so, why isn't it done now? Mr. Pattullo should tell the electors now, on the eve of an election, what his policy will be on that subject. If his government gets possession of the Yukon."

European Tension Added to Association's Task, Annual Meeting Told

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 28.—Addressing the annual general meeting of the Canadian Press, the co-operative news gathering association of the daily newspaper publishers of this country, the president, W. B. Preston, of The Brantford Expositor, made an interesting survey today of the world situation during the past year.

"European complications," he said, "pre-empted the front pages of the newspapers and there were many times since last we met when another world conflagration seemed practically unavoidable. The threat of war almost continuously upon us brought the nations to the very brink of another struggle."

BIG VOLUME OF NEWS

"Demand from the newspapers for the latest information has seldom been more intense and the responsibilities resting on news gathering organizations have been most severe. I am glad to say the Canadian Press, through its London Bureau and its alliances with the Associated Press, Reuters and Havas, has lived up to its best traditions and performed a great public service by giving a very complete coverage of all the news, while maintaining its reputation for speed, accuracy and the general reliability of its reports."

SOCIAL CREDIT

The president went on to refer to the careful coverage of the difficult political situation occasioned by the social credit experiment in Alberta, to the reorganization and enlargement of the London bureau last winter, resulting in a much expanded and more intimate report of the news of Great Britain and the Empire, and to the successful experiment last summer of a Canadian Press picture service, whose logical development in time would see the carrying of an all-Canada picture service by telephoto alongside the news.

there as well. Last year Dr. Patterson, unsuccessfully contested Vancouver-Burrard in a by-election.

At an organization meeting of the Saanich Conservative Association last night an energetic campaign was planned for their young candidate, Leslie F. Osborne, who is seeking to regain the seat for the party formerly held by Hon. S. F. Tolmie. John Patterson was named his campaign manager.

Edward Carson, who sat for Lillooet in the Tolmie regime, will attempt a comeback this year. He was named Conservative candidate in the riding yesterday.

The C.C.F. have increased their list of candidates with the choice of C. H. Lake in Atlin, and W. Offer, J. Evans and E. Westmoreland in Vancouver-Point Grey.

Delta riding became the first in which all five major parties have nominated when S. A. Platt was named as the Social Credit candidate.

Stanley Blake, business agent for the Westminster Waterfront Workers' Association, has been chosen as C.C.F. candidate in New Westminster, where he will oppose Hon. A. Wells Gray.

Capt. C. R. Bull, Okanagan fruit-grower, was chosen last night as the Liberal in South Okanagan. He steps into the place formerly held by Dr. J. Allen Harris, who has deserted politics to return to his scientific work at the University of British Columbia.

Premier Pattullo's reputation as the "flying premier" will be widened by the current campaign for the Premier intended to use airplanes frequently to reach outlying sections of the province. To meet many requests for attendance by cabinet ministers at country meetings the Premier has asked each of the cabinet to give his time to the section which he represents. This leaves the Premier, who represents the north, to cover about two-thirds of the province by air. He has not yet settled an itinerary of his air campaigning.

Ward 3 Liberal Association will hold a special meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock at Liberal headquarters, Government Street, to elect delegates to the nomination convention. Hon. John Hart and Byron Johnson will speak, and Mrs. H. F. Hodges, A. Aitken and Alderman W. Straith will also be given an opportunity to address the meeting.

R. R. Burns, Liberal member of the last Legislature for Roseland-Trail riding, will be a candidate for re-election. He was chosen unanimously last night.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances a special meeting of C.C.F. members called for Thursday evening has been postponed until Monday evening at 724 Fort Street.

A meeting of the Oak Bay Liberal Association will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Liberal rooms on Broughton Street for the purpose of electing delegates to the nominating convention.

consumption of 5,000,000," he said. "The industries were closed down all day yesterday, but because of criticism we agreed they might open today. But we may have to shut off their water supply entirely."

HOMES AND STORES' LOSSES

In the flood which has gripped the city since Monday water from the city's main water main, refrigerators and other electric appliances in homes and stores. Buildings were flooded to a depth of ten feet after the river, thirty feet above normal, flowed over the west London breakwater, sweeping one man to his death and causing $3,000,000 property damage.

The river dropped twenty-six feet from its high mark, but bridges into the flood area remained closed although motorists on business visits were permitted to enter. Pavements had been undermined and warning signs were erected at danger zones.

BLEACHERS FLOAT AWAY

Large sections of sidewalks were swept away. Garages collapsed. The new bleachers, at Labatt Park floated over the fence and stopped two blocks away, leaning against houses. Part of the park grandstand was wrecked. Officials moved to forestall disease. Flood victims will be inoculated against typhoid fever, the Red Cross announced.

"We are trying to discourage these people from going back to their homes until they have been inoculated," said Col. E. M. Dillon, Red Cross official. "It may be we shall have to continue looking after most of them for two or three weeks until their homes are against habitable."

"Inoculations were started today and will be free but not compulsory," he said.

Flood Victim's Body Recovered

Canadian Press

Woodstock, Ont., April 28.—The body of Dr. J. D. MacDonald of Ingersoll, who died in the flood waters as he was rushing to the scene of a fatal train crash four miles west of here Monday, was found in the swollen Thames River today by boys cruising in a rowboat.

Dr. MacDonald was swept to death in his car when the torrent hit a small bridge over the Thames. Papers on the body of a transient who died in the train wreck identified him as Harold J. Brett, twenty-nine, who worked in a Quebec lumber camp, and whose home is in Shelburne, Ont.

* Killed in the wreck were Engineer M. Isbister and Fireman N. Aiken.

Great Coronation Broadcast Plans

Canadian Chain of Stations
Will Be on the Air For Twenty-three Hours.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 28.—Canadian radio listeners will have two chances of hearing a description of the Coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey, May 12, and the King's message to the Empire, according to an announcement of plans by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

The British broadcasts of both these events will be relayed in Canada over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network, and rebroadcast again later in the day.

The corporation has prepared a twenty-three-hour programme for Coronation Day, and will be on the air continuously from 1 a.m. May 12, to midnight (both times Pacific standard as are all times in this item).

From the British Broadcasting Corporation the Canadian radio body will take the description of the Coronation procession, the Coronation service and the return of the King and Queen to Buckingham Palace, besides the King's speech to the Empire and other features.

Supplementing these will be a Canada-wide programme with contributions from Ottawa, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Fort William, Calgary, Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Victoria.

A special broadcast for Canada will be "A British radio party from New York." In it such British and Canadian stars of the stage and music hall as Beatrice Lillie, Reginald Gardiner, Dr. Tertius Noble, Muriel Dickson and Peggy Ashcroft will be heard at 2 p.m.

The programme will start with the Peace Tower bells from Ottawa at 11.55 a.m. will come a studio announcement from the B.B.C. in London, and at 1.30 the description of

Their Majesties leaving Buckingham Palace.

VICTORIA CATHEDRAL BELLS
The B.B.C. will be on the air until 6.30 a.m. with the actual Coronation broadcast and then the Christ Church Cathedral bells from Victoria, B.C. will be heard.

Fort William will follow with "a children's Coronation chorus" at 7.30 and the Canadian programme will be well under way.

The Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, will speak from Ottawa at 10.10 a.m.

Immediately following will come "the Empire's homage" from London, in which Canada will take part, and after King George will speak at 11 a.m.

The Empire's homage and the King's speech will be rebroadcast over the Canadian network at 6 p.m.

ABBEY REBROADCAST
The rebroadcast of the Coronation ceremony on the Canadian network will take place from 11.30 a.m. to 1.45 p.m.

Other features on the programme will be: A royal salute of twenty-one guns from Winnipeg at 10 a.m.; a recital by John Masfield, Poet Laureate, at 2.45 p.m.; "Poems in Praise," from Halifax at 3.30 p.m.; "Songs of Empire" from Toronto at 7 p.m.

At 8 p.m. the corporation will say good-night to eastern Canada, but the programme will go on over the western network until midnight.

NUMEROUS MICROPHONES
Canadian Press
London, April 28.—Comprehensive plans have been made by the British Broadcasting Corporation to give listeners a picture of the Coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey on May 12, and of the procession to and from the Abbey.

A total of fifty-eight microphones will be used, thirty-two of them in side the Abbey. It is hoped listeners will be able to hear the King's voice during part of the service. Seven observers will tell the story of the procession from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey. In addition, there will be microphones to carry special sound effects along the route.

Broadcasting will begin at 10.15 a.m. (1.15 a.m. P.S.T.), with a description by John Snagge of the procession as it moves down the Mall from the Palace.

McGill to Have New Principal

A. E. Morgan, M.A., Differing in Views From Board of Governors, Resigns

Canadian Press
Montreal, April 28.—Arthur E. Morgan's twenty months' tenure as McGill University's principal and vice-chancellor, was virtually at an end today following the acceptance of the resignation he proffered "in the best interests of the university."

The British-born successor to the late Sir Arthur Currie, unable to "see eye to eye" with the college governors, will leave McGill at the end of next month. A successor will be chosen early next fall.

Where the fifty-one-year-old principal had differed with the governors was not indicated in detail in the final exchange of letters between Mr. Morgan and Chancellor Sir Edward Beatty, made public late yesterday. The Morgan letter to the chancellor said:

"For some time it has been apparent that you and other members of the board of governors did not see eye to eye with me in regard to the relation of the principalship to the governors. . . . It now seems clear to me that it would be in the best interests of the university for me to ask you to convey to the board my request to be relieved of my office."

The principal added he understood from Sir Edward this would be "acceptable" to the governors.

DUTIES CEASE MAY 31
Sir Edward's answer, dated April 22, said the resignation had been accepted as from May 31.

Mr. Morgan formerly was principal of University College in Hull, England, an institution he organized. He was born at Bristol, England, and educated at Trinity College, Dublin.

His year and a half at McGill was marked by much reorganization, chiefly in the interests of economy. He traveled considerably, too, in search of financial support from graduates.

He plans to return to England.

Governor Loses Military Powers

President of Brazil in Counter-move Against Flores in South

Associated Press
Buenos Aires, April 28.—President Getulio Vargas of Brazil tightened his grip on the country today with a decree that curbed drastically the power of Governor J. A. Flores da Cunha of the important southern state of Rio Grande do Sul.

The action came as Brazilian political circles were expecting Flores to espouse a presidential candidate unacceptable to Vargas for the elections next January 3—Armando Salles Oliveira, former governor of the State of Sao Paulo.

President Vargas, who rose to power on the heels of a 1930 revolution, in which Flores supported him, stripped from the governor the extraordinary military powers he had been given under the country-wide state of war, by which Vargas has directed Brazil since the leftist uprising of 1935.

Easing of Trade Barriers Urged

London Daily Telegraph
Hopes Canada Can Aid
U.S.-British Efforts

Canadian Press from Havas
London, April 28.—The Daily Telegraph today, extolling Canada as an "interpreter," expressed the hope the Dominion would help Britain and the United States reach a comprehensive trade treaty.

In an editorial welcoming the United States delegates to the Correlation, The Telegraph emphasized Canada's role as the "link and interpreter between two peoples who have not always understood one another."

It went on to suggest that Canada's mission might be extended to "another field."

"Great Britain and the United States cherish a common conception of the world power of trade," it noted. "The approaches to a fuller understanding have, however, been made, and it would be wonderful if, with Canada helping, Anglo-American goodwill could find expression in a comprehensive trade treaty which should set a term to all rivalries and inaugurate a common attack on the barriers which obstruct the flow of the world's commerce."

SECRET TAX FIGURES WANTED
Washington, April 28 (Associated Press).—The United States House of Representatives yesterday voted to strip from the tax statutes a section under which corporation salaries in excess of $15,000 have been made public. A 229-to-112 ballot sent a repeal measure to the Senate, where the provision permitting publication of the salaries was inserted originally in a tax bill.

The Liberal Way

Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman.
President of Great Britain's Board of Trade, told the House of Commons at Westminster last night that the Anglo-Canadian trade agreement negotiated two months ago in no way prevented the British Government from pursuing a policy having for its object the lowering of trade barriers.

The dispatch from London tells us that earlier the House defeated by 225 to 118 an opposition Liberal amendment which would have struck out the fixed margin of preference in favor of Canadian wheat, butter, cheese, raw tinned apples, pears, eggs in the shell, fish, unwrought copper and timber of all kinds, that Britain's trade with Canada is of first-class importance, Runciman declared. Outlining various changes made under the new pact, he remarked that references had been made to efforts on the part of his predecessor, Will Graham, Labor, to secure low tariffs. Recalling Graham's "heroic efforts" in this direction, Runciman said the British Government had set forth these objectives at a Geneva Economic Conference. The United Kingdom failed absolutely to make any progress, he said, because at the International Conference this country had nothing to give away. It is impossible, Runciman declared, to obtain concessions from other countries without having something to give in return.

Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, recently in the United States and Canada, while a member of the National Government of Great Britain, still is a Liberal, and we may presume, that is why he cannot surrender his belief that the free flow of commodities between nation and nation is the best policy for international business—for the preservation of peace, too.

The President of the Board of Trade is sixty-seven years of age. He is a shipowner. He was President of the Board of Trade from 1914 to 1916—and, before that, under the Campbell-Bannerman-Asquith regime, he was President of the Board of Education.

As a shipowner, decidedly interested in a business which depends for its economic life upon the flow of trade—as was his father before him—it is quite natural for Mr. Runciman to follow the fiscal example of the Prime Minister under whom he is serving—that fine type of statesman, Mr. Stanley Baldwin—who made it quite clear when he and his colleagues from Great Britain entered the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa five years ago, that no matter what agreements might be reached, Britain would still reserve to herself the right to enter into as many agreements as she felt desirable, with as many foreign countries as might, likewise, desire to talk business with her.

This was only natural. Outside of the United Kingdom, of course, there are only about 25,000,000 white subjects of His Majesty King George VI. So, it stands to reason, that if the 45,000,000 people in the British Isles had to depend for their external business—their livelihood, for that is what it means—on Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and the various colonial states, theirs would be a sorry lot. Hence, Liberal, now carrying a National label, Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman reiterates the Conservative Baldwin economic dictum of 1932.

Flag Problem

FROM HANSARD WE REPRODUCE.
Premier Mackenzie King's reply to questions as to what Canada proposes to do to overcome difficulties at the Coronation ceremonies arising from the fact that this country has no distinctive flag:

"It is proposed to display (in the Coronation ceremonies), as the Canadian standard, the Arms of Canada granted by royal proclamation dated November 21, 1921, with the royal crown at the staff.

"Canada has not a recognized distinctive national flag. The red ensign with the Arms of Canada in the fly is used on vessels of the Canadian mercantile marine. The blue ensign is used on vessels belonging to the Dominion of Canada. By order-in-council of January 26, 1924, authority was given for the flying of the red ensign with the Arms of Canada in the fly on suitable occasions from all buildings owned or occupied by the Canadian Government and situated outside Canada. This flag is flown from the High Commissioner's office in London and the Canadian legations abroad.

"From the information available at present in the Department of External Affairs, no specific national flag has been laid down for India. As a matter of administrative practice the flag authorized for the Viceroy is used as the distinctive flag of India. This flag is the Union Jack with, in the centre, a badge containing the Star of India and the Royal Crown. In addition, India makes use of the red and blue ensign with appropriate badge.

"All colonies have distinctive badges which are applied to the Union Jack. In addition they make use of the red and blue ensign with appropriate badge."

More and more frequent, as Canada participated more widely in the affairs of the world, are the occasions on which Canadians are forced to a make-shift to meet the need for a distinguishing national emblem. Each occasion emphasizes more strongly the necessity for action.

by Parliament to safeguard the self-respect of this senior Dominion by giving it its own flag within the Empire.

A Good Work

THE JOHN HOWARD SOCIETY.
An organization which bases its spiritual inspiration on its desire to reclaim youngsters—of both sexes—from their waywardness will be the beneficiary from the "show" that is to be staged in the Horseshow Building at the Willows on Friday night of this week. Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, former Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, former Premier of British Columbia, and now Victoria's representative in the Canadian House of Commons, will declare the "affair" open. And it may be assumed that Dr. Tolmie, knowing as much as, and more than, anybody else about horseflesh will not only say the right technical words, appropriate to such a show, but also deliver the appropriate welcome to that fine aggregation of youthful instrumentalists—the Kitsilano Boys' Band.

Danger Rises With Speed

IN CONNECTICUT, AT LEAST, THE fastest motor vehicle drivers have more accidents, according to study of the Committee on Transportation of Yale University.

During a six-months' study in which the license number and the speed of individual vehicles were recorded the investigators were able to establish two groups of drivers; moderate and fast. The fast drivers were those who traveled over fifty miles an hour and the moderate group ranged from thirty-five to forty-five miles an hour. A checkup of the accident records of these drivers was then made through records of the state.

The investigators found that without making a distinction as to severity of accidents or responsibility for them, it appeared that 30 per cent more of the high-speed drivers had accident records than those of the moderate speed group. Moreover, it was found that the high-speed drivers who had accidents had more of them, so that their total exceeded that of the moderate groups by 45 per cent.

All of which is merely in accordance with the experience of the ordinary observer.

Film Fallacy Shattered

PERIODICALLY SOME "EXPERT"
on something or other arises and blames the films for leading youth astray. Such critics are defeated in a speech Lord Hewart, Lord Chief Justice of England made recently at a dinner of the British Kinematograph Society. He does not believe that films make criminals of children.

"It is commonly stated that when adventures of passion and crime are portrayed before young people they tempt them to a life of crime," Lord Hewart said.

"There is something to be said for Bill Sykes and all his kind and the criminal who exhibits heroic qualities may naturally be a more popular figure in fiction than the persons whose features and piety remain unimpaired and unattractive from the first page to the last. Yet it is seldom suggested that children who read works of this kind—many of them to be numbered among the classics of literature—are thereby encouraged to entertain evil designs or indulge in criminal practices.

"On what other grounds than prejudice can you base the view that the cinema makes criminals of young persons? Every film of crime or adventure possesses the common feature that the criminal was brought low. Why should it be suggested that these things are harmless in books, but harmful to the 'masses' on the screen?"

Lord Hewart asserted that film producers had been resorting less and less to stories of a cheap or ridiculous kind. The so-called "instructional" films, the frankly humorous films, the historical films, Mr. Walt Disney's cartoons, the news pictures—all these, as he says, play an increasingly important part in current programmes.

Notes

Brazil is facing a serious crisis, so the dispatches say today. And when is the day, the week, the month, and the year when the "peppery" peoples of the Latin republics of this continent are not facing some crisis? But they seem to emerge from them and attend to their knitting—in their own way.

These are hectic days in the political life of British Columbia. Nobody—not even a Conservative candidate—seems to be doing a darn thing to stop this cold wind blowing. All we have to do, then, is to elect a government that will try to stick a peg in the seasons and let us know "where we are." All in favor, say . . . !

Dr. Frank Patterson, leader of the Conservative Party of British Columbia, has issued a "fifteen-point" programme. Far be it from us to suggest that Dr. Patterson has been thinking of another Doctor, who issued, quite a long time ago, a "fourteen-point" programme. (Shades of Woodrow Wilson!) But, of course, that was for peace. That did not work out either.

Brewers, across the line, profiting by lessons of the past, have now formed the United Brewers' Industrial Foundation as an organization "to align the industry with every force working for the public good." Col. Jacob Ruppert, foundation chairman, said: "Every brewer knows that in the events leading up to prohibition there were many evils which he abhorred and which he does not want to have repeated. He knows that for an industry to survive and develop it must function in the public as well as in the private interest." So long as the industry bears that in mind and shapes its policies accordingly, it may avert a repetition of the old abuses which led most areas on the continent to welcome prohibition.

Loose Ends

In Wales they sing—and they want you to know they are Welsh, not English—We discover the mountains of state—the peak of Snowden—the last castle—and a lady who was born rich.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SOMEWHERE IN WALES.

CARIBOO

IF YOU were to drop down on the end of a parachute into the middle of Wales, you would be sure you were in the Cariboo and you would start looking for Ashcroft. The country at this season looks precisely like our own Dry Belt—rounded brown hills and flat broad valleys, with larger black mountains in the background.

Only the houses are different. They are built of the curious dark stone of the country and roofed in black slate, for this is the slate centre of the world. Everywhere they have dug into their hills and brought forth a fearful black avalanche of slate—mountains of it, miles of it, sprawling all over the country in angry black heaps, spewed out on the meadows and continuing to spread every year. Most of the slate is wasted and left a filthy blot on the landscape. Only a small part seems to be used to make the roofs of England.

MOUNTAINS

THE WELSH mountains would be impressive to anyone who hadn't seen our Rockies. The mighty Snowden, about which the guide books work themselves into a fine frenzy, is a nice little hill, with patches of snow on it, and the pass over it, strewn with boulders, is interesting. But Arrowsmith is a far nobler peak and, of course, the entire range is a baby compared with the mountains you can see across the bay at Comox.

But it is wild country in Britain—empty in most places but for a stone shepherd's hut and a few lonely looking sheep. Empty of trees in many places, too, and cut into innumerable little fields by stone walls. But in other parts it is lush and green, with fat little farms beside fast-running creeks, which make you homesick for British Columbia.

Last night I stayed at an inn in the Welsh foothills—I will not attempt to spell the name of the place, but it began with two 'l's, like all Welsh names—and the young fellow who kept the garage confessed that he had spent three years in Canada and was yearning to get back there. He worked on a ranch in Saskatchewan and it was hard work, but he loved it. After Canada this Old Country is too confining, he said, and a man is continually tied up in regulations and red tape.

TROUT

THIS UPLAND is the watershed of the Wye, which winds in innumerable curves to the sea. From any window I could look down a superb meadow where the river meanders through fields flecked with white lambs. The Wye is full of trout, they say, and we had some for dinner, but the public cannot fish in it. A halfpenny patrol the stream to see that only authorized persons cast a fly there, and it is against the rules to cast a worm, even at this season before the flies have hatched out.

These Welsh people are a breed of their own, and proud of it. They talk Welsh among themselves and even when they talk English you can hardly understand them on account of their peculiar accent and the way they have of singing their sentences. But when we stopped for lunch in another place with an unpronounceable name, a boy went by on a bicycle whistling "I'm an Old Cowhand From the Rio Grande." He said it in the corner and began to talk to his friends in Welsh. The old cowhand from the Rio Grande.

Everywhere on this island you hear American jazz, and every town is plastered with billboards announcing the film presence of such persons as William Powell, Gary Cooper and Joan Crawford. Apart from the Royal Family, the Hollywood folks are the best known persons in the Kingdom.

YOUNG WALES

AS WE came down out of the mountains and headed for the sea, we stopped to look at the ruins of an ancient castle. A small boy, red-checked like all the boys in Britain, told us: "Yes, it's an old castle. It was the last to surrender to Edward the First." He said it in his strange accent and his sing-song voice, with evident pride. He was a Welshman and didn't want to be taken for anything else.

An aged crone stopped us in another village to beg a shilling and would have kept us there till night telling us the story of her life and how she had been born of a rich father—"he had five farms and many cows"—and how her husband had taken her money to live with another lady in Manchester. When we gave her half a crown she crossed herself, murmured "God bless and save you," and assured us that she was "Welsh, born and bred, not English mind, though you wouldn't understand, comin' from Yankee. Now my landlady is very hard, wantin' her rent and me with kidney trouble and havin' to go to the pay doctor, with two brothers who won't help me."

We had to leave her there talking about her kidney trouble and her ungrateful brothers because we were pushing through to the old walled town of Chester.

EVERYDAY SENSATION

THE METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER home office was the scene of great excitement one day this week. It seems that an overseas courier had informed them that hundreds of people were making visits to Camille's grave in Paris for the purpose of decorating it with camillas. A terrific coast-to-coast campaign—tying up the incident with Garbo's newest screen success—loomed before them. Everything was in readiness until they learned that the French have been making daily pilgrimages to Camille's grave for years now. Incidentally, Marie Gautier—who was the Lady of Camillas in real life, is buried only a few feet from the author responsible for her immortality—Alexandre Dumas.

EXILES

THE "SMART SET" in Manhattan is taking on a decidedly British flavor, with each new trip of the Queen Mary to these shores. Because many who formerly ranked high in the select London golfs-on at the time the present Duke of Windsor was King, find themselves in the cold with the current favorites of the conservative King George. The result is that Manhattan is probably richer with titles at the present writing than in many a moon.

NUMERICAL ODDITY

IF WE took some thousands of numbers—numbers from any miscellaneous sources, like automobile plates, phone books, railroad cars, etc.—we might expect the first digits to be distributed quite at random. That is, we would expect the first digit to be nine about as often as it would be one.

But that isn't the way it works out at all, a study reported by Dr. Frank Benford, research physicist of the General Electric Company, shows. Dr. Benford took 40,000 numbers from various sources and made a statistical classification of them according to their initial digits. He found that 30.1 per cent of his numbers began with the digit one, while only 4.6 per cent of them had nine as the initial digit.

C.P.A. Exams

THE NEW YORKER
The Ph.D. of the accounting and finance world is the C.P.A. degree, examinations for which will be held at Mecca Temple, beginning next Tuesday and running two and a half days. These examinations have a mortality rate of about 85 per cent, which is probably some sort of record. Few people ever pass them the first try; three times is the average. (As in the case of the bar examinations, you can take them as long as your strength holds out.) A bare 5,000 certificates have been issued in this state since 1896, when the examinations were established by the Board of Regents. It costs $25 to take the exams; this covers two tries, and your money is not refunded if you fail. The requirements are a high school education and five years of practical accounting, or three if you are a graduate of a school of accounting. Next year an accounting school diploma will be required for all the candidates, making the thing even more exclusive. Anybody can set himself up as a public accountant if he takes the run that way, but a man who pretends to be a C.P.A. is flirting with a fine of $500 and a year in jail. Being a C.P.A. carries a lot of prestige, in a certain limited group, and all the big accounting firms employ C.P.A.s to study for it, on their own time, instead of going out with girls. Some firms conduct tutoring classes. There are also, for well-off candidates, tutoring classes, the biggest of which is run by a Mr. Henry Feldman. He offers a choice of a long course, costing $150, or a short one, costing $110. Right now he has 371 pupils.

Some thousand accountants will turn up at Mecca Temple at 9.15 sharp next Tuesday, all ready to wrestle with a work sheet or a trial balance. The examinations are divided into five main sections: one devoted to theory of accounting, two to practical accounting, one to auditing and one to commercial law. Practical accounting is the big stumbling block, very hard—but practical. For instance, you have to know something about the operation of an arbitrarily chosen business. One time it was a cigar store, another time an opera company. Most of the candidates flunked the opera question, and there was a good deal of indignation all round. Another cause of squawks among candidates is the time when the examinations are given. The income tax season is the busiest of the year, and they haven't much time to study.

A SMALLPOX CASE

TO THE EDITOR:—A British sailor is said to have died of virulent smallpox shortly after a liner from the Orient docked at Victoria, B.C., on April 19. He was a third-class passenger and "apparently had never been vaccinated." As a British sailor he is likely to have been vaccinated and re-vaccinated, however much he may have disliked the process, and third-class passengers do not usually escape pressure in this matter of vaccination. So, it might appear that the victim would have been either recently vaccinated or so well "protected" already as to be considered "safe." The same would apply to the army.

A few years ago a ship's captain, who had seen much service in the Orient, and was at the time living in Victoria, told me how much the rite of vaccination annoys a sea-captain. It is regarded as a troublesome business causing much loss of time and considerable ill-health. From a money standpoint he regarded the process as profitable.

"Dead men tell no tales," or the "apparently unvaccinated sailor" might corroborate the captain's views, but at all costs the credit of this dangerous practice of vaccination must be spared.

WARNS OF TREACHEROUS PATH

TO THE EDITOR:—"Missourian" fears that the Tory government of Great Britain will ere long fall under suspicion of being Communist. If Missourian will read "Left Wings Over Europe," by Wyndham Lewis, he will find it is already suspect. The brilliant Mr. Lewis has discovered that the Communist International, headquarters Moscow; the Finance International, headquarters Paris, and the British Imperial International, centered in London, have arrived at some secret arrangement with each other. The object appears to be to make the earth safe for internationalism at the expense of unfortunate Germany, Italy and Japan. The ultimate result, fears Mr. Lewis, will be to turn the world over to Communism.

Perhaps this is the reason we now find various "National" groups busily endeavoring to save their respective countries from such a woful end. We must all be on the watch these days. At any time now we may expect to see the budding Popular Fronts made wide enough to include everybody from the richest imperialist to the poorest revolutionary.

When this occurs, we shall know that at long last the millennium has arrived. Capitalist tiger and proletarian lamb will repose in the same folding international arms. So beware, Brother Editor, of the treacherous path wherein you tread.

SHADOW-SHOW

FROM THE LONDON MORNING POST.
"This photograph," cries the caption, "will be historic." We are accustomed to the phrase. How pleasant, we reflect, our history-books would be if the camera had been known since Alfred's day.

Consider the pictures: Dames routed at Edington; the Dragon banner of the Wessex Kings waving at Senlac; John and the Barons on the "eyot at Runnymede"; Henry the Fifth, his cloak about him, riding through London streets on his return from Agincourt; Henry the Eighth at tennis; perhaps a first performance at the Globe on Bankside.

Then imagine the groups: Queen Elizabeth, the Earl of Leicester and guests at Kenilworth; the Five Members (reading from L. to R.); the Cabal in conference.

The camera, used in time, might have solved some of the permanent guesses of the historian. Did Canute command the waves? What did Raleigh do with his cloak? ("Memorable" photographs indeed—in the word that "1066 and All That" has made us chary of using.

CURIOUS NAMES

From the London Observer

Sir—I was recently in conversation with a friend of mine—an accomplished genealogist and authority on heraldry—and, turning to work on which he was engaged at the moment, a compilation, etc., of the Manor Court Rolls, Rentals and Deeds of Wessing, Essex, he drew my attention to a number of curious surnames which go to show how many family names originated in some physical peculiarity, occupation, or mental characteristic of the first holders of names which became in time hereditary.

Scandinavian Winter Garden

Mrs. Martha Phillips Says That Electricity May Make It Possible

A garden all the year round is the dream of every northern gardener, and Mrs. Martha Phillips, garden consultant of San Francisco and radio lecturer on the NBC blue network, told of northern gardeners who hope to see this dream come true very soon.

Speaking before an interested gathering of garden people who filled the Princess Louise Room at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening, Mrs. Phillips said:

"With cheap electricity, they expect to have gardens through the winter in Norway and Sweden."

Describing the beauty of the Scandinavian gardens both in words and in pictures, for she showed some lovely colored slides, the San Francisco garden expert stressed the part which the state-owned public utilities were doing in providing cheap heat for the gardeners.

"Electricity is so cheap that everyone has greenhouses," she said. "They even heat the soil with electricity."

In the allotment gardens rented by the cities to the people who lived in apartments, the only houses allowed to be built were those in which were electric heaters for plants.

ELECTRICITY'S EFFECT

Electricity played such an important part in the gardens of Norway and Sweden that it made the gardens "different." It is difficult to compare gardens of one country with another, but Mrs. Phillips felt that the Scandinavian gardens were different not only in style, but in the growth of the flowers. This latter, she felt, was due to the forcing under electrical heat.

"The only thing I knew about Norway and Sweden before I went there were articles in geographical magazines describing how they cut down white birch trees," Mrs. Phillips said. "I couldn't imagine a land where they could afford to do that."

"I did not know that they had any worth while gardening there at all," she added, "but later I discovered that these two countries with Denmark purchase and plant ten times as many bulbs as are bought in the United States."

Denmark, the speaker described as a country where there was not half an acre of uncultivated ground. She was struck by the color in some of the old castle gardens, particularly the blue and white effects.

In Sweden a group had started a movement whose philosophy was contained in their slogan to have more beautiful things in everyday life. Gardening fitted perfectly into this SWEDISH HEATHER

The heather of Scotland had been sung about by every Scottish poet, but she had never heard about the heather of Sweden, Mrs. Phillips said. Heather grew there in wild profusion, far wilder than the broom here, and the whole countryside was scented by it.

On some of the estates she saw box hedges hundreds of years old, one which she was assured was 800 years old.

The gardens of the Crown Prince were open to them, and she described the delightful transition from the formal rose garden to the lily garden through which a stream flowed and which she felt no man ever constructed, it was so natural.

"Some things are almost too precious to speak about," Mrs. Phillips said, "and I shall never forget the entrance to Elen's garden. For a mile and a quarter down the driveway were four-foot phlox fifteen feet deep."

In Stockholm the flower market was the best she had seen. No one in this city ever thought of going home without buying flowers. The flowerman of Sweden was like the milkman or the baker here, she said. He called round every day.

OSLO COLOR SCHEMES

Mrs. Phillips remarked on the color schemes in the King's garden at Oslo, Norway, which she visited. Beds full of petunias and asters changed from lilac to rose in fifteen shades. Ibsen's grave was in one of the most beautiful cemeteries, she said.

A thousand-year-old church in Norway was of great interest to her, as around it grew some of the ancient medicinal herbs the names of many of which she did not know.

In conclusion, Mrs. Phillips said she thought that gardens showed a community feeling.

"The man who stops by a flower, even for a moment, has advanced spiritually," she declared.

Hugh Freese, who was in the chair, said that he hoped that when Mrs. Phillips returned from the Orient she would speak to them on Oriental gardens.

Well-known Nurse Is Bride

Miss Florence Sehl Married Today At Cumberland

The little Roman Catholic Church at Cumberland formed the setting of a wedding of interest today, when at 2.30 o'clock Rev. Father Beaton of Comox united in marriage Florence, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sehl, Wark Street, Victoria, and Mr. Thomas Edward Simms, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simms of Royston, formerly of Stamford, England.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was smartly gowned in pink point d'esprit over the same shade of satin, with which she wore a lace straw hat in the same shade of pink, trimmed with clusters of rosebuds. To complete her ensemble she carried an arm bouquet of Tallman roses and white carnations.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Daniel McBrady of San Francisco, who chose to wear for the occasion a frock of pale lace, over pink satin, and a black hat trimmed with pink rosebuds. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Harry Simms.

Following the marriage service a wedding reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Stamford House, Royston, where a large number of friends of the two families from points up the island, were welcomed by Mrs. Sehl, wearing a gown of Burgundy lace with a black hat trimmed with rosebuds, while Mrs. Simms was in powder blue with hat en suite. Mrs. McBrady, Mrs. Sehl and Mrs. Simms each wore corsages of pink rosebuds and carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Simms left later, in the day on their way to California to spend their honeymoon motoring in the south. On their return to British Columbia they will make their home in Royston.

The bride, who is a graduate of the Training School for Nurses, St. Joseph's Hospital, has been matron of the hospital at Cumberland for some time.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sehl and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson of Victoria, Mrs. Daniel McBrady of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. James McConnell of Vancouver.

"A Socialized Health Programme," Mrs. Violet McNaughton, O.B.E., of Saskatoon, who will take part in the sessions dealing with the "Technique of Developing Public Opinion"; Mrs. Stuart Jamieson of Vancouver, "Traffic in Arms"; Mrs. John Davidson of Toronto, "Population Pressures and Their Relationship to Peace on the Pacific"; and Mrs. Rex Eaton of Vancouver, "Labor Standards and Standards of Living in Relation to International Trade Competition."

Senator and Mrs. A. D. McRae of Vancouver have invited the delegates attending to a sundown garden party reception on the first day of their sessions, July 12.

Married In Vancouver

Mrs. Richard Shaun Lewis, one of the two brides at the double wedding in Christ Church, Vancouver, on April 21. Mrs. Lewis was formerly Miss Myrtle Lillian Yates and is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Yates, 619 Queen's Avenue, Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have returned to Victoria after their honeymoon and will make their home here.

Daughters of Pitt—The Daughters of Pitt met last night in the nurses' home of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, with Miss Irene Bannerman in the chair, and fourteen members present. A letter was received from the hospital board of directors thanking the daughters for their gift of cubicles in the children's ward. It was decided to procure a few pictures for the children's ward, and to present the ward with scales. The members also decided to knit two dozen bed-jackets for the ward. Miss Kathleen Dixon was welcomed as a new member.

Married At Garden City

Miss Lillian S. Reid Married Today Of Mr. Richard Brown

A pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon in Garden City United Church, when Lillian Sangster, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Reid, 2309 Quadra Street, was united in marriage to Richard, third son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Brown, Whiteside Avenue. The Rev. W. Allan officiated, and the church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of spring flowers.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Elsie Fryatt, was a radiant picture in a white satin dress fashioned on princess lines, and with Elizabethan collar of lace. Her veil was of white tulle arranged in halo effect with a row of pearls. Her bouquet was of white roses with pink and white carnations and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Gladys Reid, sister of the bride, and Miss Hilda Brown, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaids, both wearing pretty pale blue satin frocks with pink velvet sashes, and pink flowered halos, and carrying bouquets of pink sweet peas and carnations. Miss Isabel Sangster, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, attractively dressed in pale rose-pink organdie with pale blue velvet sash. She wore a hair band of blue velvet and sprays of forget-me-nots, and carried a Colonial bouquet of blue flowers. Mr. Jack Brown supported the groom, with Messrs. Jack Rawling and Bill Bowles assisting as ushers. During the signing of the register, Miss Adeline Sangster, cousin of the bride, rendered the solo "Because," Miss Elsie Fryatt accompanying.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where the rooms were effectively decorated with spring flowers and greenery. A three-tier cake centred the table flanked with white tapers set in silver candelsticks. Daffodils, foxgloves and lily-of-the-valley in silver baskets graced the corners of the table.

The bride party received the guests in the living room, which was decorated with palms; the bride's mother wearing a pale green georgette gown with black hat, and the mother of the groom attired in a grey crepe dress with blue accessories.

A buffet luncheon was served, the hostess being assisted by the Misses N. Sangster, Dot Woodford, Catherine Brown and Mesdames J. Laird and W. Dillabough.

The happy couple left with the afternoon boat for Seattle. Mrs. Brown wearing a grey tailored travelling suit with navy-blue hat and matching accessories. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Laird of Crofton; also Mr. and Mrs. A. Lang, Mr. and Mrs. B. Lang and Mesdames O'Brien and R. Murray, all of Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were the recipients of many handsome gifts, and will return to Victoria where they will establish their home.

Rheumatism

Try and picture the life this woman led for twenty years—changing her shoes several times a day in a vain endeavor to attain some relief from the rheumatic pains that were constantly troubling her. Then imagine her joy when she found that Kruschen was driving away the rheumatism. This is what she writes:—
"I have been using Kruschen Salts for four years. For twenty years previously I had suffered with my feet, sometimes changing my shoes five times a day, and frequently sitting without any as the pain was so great. Now I can wear the same pair of shoes all day with comfort. I cannot speak too highly of Kruschen Salts. Only those who had been in constant pain with their feet for years can realize what it is to be free."— (Mrs.) E. A.

It is deposits of excess uric acid, lodging between the joints, which are frequently the cause of rheumatism. Kruschen Salts contain two ingredients—sodium and potassium—which are effective solvents of uric acid.

Says Birthrate Affected By Hats

Canadian Press
New York, April 27.—Women's hats and the birthrate are all tied up together, according to Mrs. Helen Washburn, who wrote "So You're Going to Have a Baby?" and now is at work on a follow-up, to be called: "So You're Going to Have a Husband?"

Men aren't much interested in women when they wear funny hats, according to Mrs. Washburn. The birthrate started down, she pointed out, after the Eugenic hat period of 1931. It went down until gnomes hats and others which Mrs. Washburn considers more attractive arrived in late 1933.

The rate was up in 1934, but then berets, panaches, pillboxes and flat saucers came in, and the rate went skidding.

The pagodas and coolie shapes of 1936 cut the rate to 16.5 per 1,000, the lowest in history, in that year, she said.

She didn't explain how come the birthrate reacts so quickly.

Your Baby and Mine

BABY'S TEETHING ACTUALLY
BEGINS AT BIRTH

One of the traditional fears which all mothers suffer is what will happen to the baby when he teethes. For so long such horrid tales of baby's indigestion, convulsions and irritability have been circulated that mothers are ill-prepared for the appearance of a tooth which comes absolutely unheralded.

It is probable, though, that independently most mothers do discover some reactions to teething. They can remember, after the tooth appears, that baby was cross, that he was peevish about his food and that he slept less than usual. At the time these symptoms were too slight to cause much notice, but later they became significant.

It is true, also, that when the weather is very hot, or the diet unwise or subjected to drastic changes that teething may be more dramatic than at other times. What we should keep in mind is that babies are literally teething from birth and if the coming of a tooth were a signal for illness, baby would be in a chronic state of ill health from birth to three years. It is smart, though, to respect a baby's appetitelessness. It is of little avail to force food on a child who knows better than we just the time when he feels least like eating and has little ability to take care of food he doesn't want. Well children who grow temporarily appetiteless, or miss a few hours sleep, are advertising that for the moment something is troubling them, and we help them to overcome it when we heed the warning signals and lessen our demands upon them. Convulsions or fever at teething time, are only secondarily related to teeth. The real cause is a deficient diet which makes it impossible, without upheaval, for the baby to provide the building materials for teeth. It is a mistake to accept them as natural and inescapable.

Our leaflet on "Difficult Teething" deals at greater length with the causes of this condition. It may be had for a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

TRAILER ADVENTURE

by Nard Jones
© 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

"How—how long have you been on the boat?"

"Maybe a week. It seems more like a year—and it may be longer than a week for all I know. They don't want to let go of me, and they don't quite know what to do with me."

"But how did you get up into the Northwest? They told me at the California border that Speddon had driven through alone."

Betty smiled ruefully. "Oh, no! Little Orphan Annie was lying in the closed rumble seat—and Mr. Speddon's gun was pointed down between the cushions of the front seat with one hand while he handed the dumb officer his license with the other. It seemed to me like we drove 100 miles before he let me back into the front!"

"What made him take you in the first place?"

"It was because of a crazy remark
I made. You remember we went back to the service station to ask the attendant if he'd seen Neal? Well, just to make conversation I said I wasn't surprised to have Neal disappear, because the whole job looked suspicious and I wouldn't be surprised if we were working for rum runners or dope smugglers. Out of a million insane remarks—and I can make 'em all—I had to say that! Speddon wouldn't believe I was joking. He told me I knew too much and that in three days
I'd be talking to Ciznik. He tore out of town like mad—and never stopped except for gas and oil and sandwiches."

"You didn't send me any telegrams then?"

"No. That was Speddon. I think he'd have gone back after you, but he was afraid. So he thought if he could keep you happy until you got to Seattle he'd be all right. I did manage to slip you a note—did you get it?"

Martha nodded. "At Portland."

"I don't suppose you could read much of it. I just had half a minute to scrawl it out and slip it to a gas station attendant. I was trying to warn you about Ciznik and Speddon.
But . . . Betty's voice grew auspiciously husky in the darkness. "But I don't suppose anything could have kept from walking into this, anyhow."

"I've found you safe, that's all that matters."

"Safe . . . Betty repeated the word querulously. "Have you any idea what will happen to us if that government boat should overtake this one?"

"But they'll be too busy to think about us."

"I wish I could believe it," Betty answered. "But when Ciznik recalls what we could tell the police I'm afraid he'll remember, all right."

They fell silent at the sudden sound of heavy footfalls in the passageway.
They grew nearer, went on down past
the door.

"That's Ciznik!" Betty whispered.
"Betty!" He went back to his stateroom to find me! We've got to make a break of it. Maybe if we can get up on deck we'll have a chance."

They plunged out into the dark corridor, feeling their way along the wall. At the far end they heard Ciznik's swift curses as he realized
Ling had left the door open for Martha's escape.

"Hurry!" Betty breathed desperately.
"He'll turn a flashlight down the hall."
Martha ran on, collided painfully with the rail of an iron stair. Clutching Betty's wrist, she started up.

When they reached the deck they realized the reason for Ciznik's sudden concern for them.

CHAPTER XXIII

Looking out over the dark waters,
Martha saw that the speeding revenue cutter was close astern of Ciznik's vessel. A great moustache of white foam rode along before the clean-cutting prow. Then suddenly a blinding glare of light struck at them.

"It's the new coastguard cutter that was brought around from the east coast!" Martha heard one of the men shout. "This tub can't get away from her."

"She's got to!" It was Speddon, roaring above the din.
"They've given us one shot as a warning," the other man yelled. "Next time we'll get it square, I'm going to tell Pete to get those engines in reverse!"

"Not until Ciznik orders you to,"
Speddon rasped.

Martha and Betty crouched low on the deck, afraid that the illumination of the cutter's searchlight would reveal them to some of Ciznik's crew. "We've got just one chance," Betty whispered.
"That's to signal that 'coastguard cutter. If they know we're aboard they won't fire."

"But Ciznik is sure to stop."

"Maybe. If he does he'll make certain that the revenue men never see us."

Martha put a hand on Betty's shoulder. "You stay here. I'll try to work around to the other side.
Surely they'll be able to see me. If I—"

"It might not work, though," the voice of Ciznik said suddenly. "We tricked them that way once with a sailor in women's clothes!"

Martha turned, startled. Ciznik stood there on the wet deck, his face working angrily. In his right hand was a revolver. "Don't move, either of you!" He yelled Speddon's name.
"Take these two below. Jack. Ling is down there and he knows what to do."

"But—"

"Do as I tell you!"

Speddon reached into his pocket.
"Get going," he said.

Their hearts like lead, Martha and Betty preceded Speddon down the steel companionway. "Keep going until you get to Ciznik's room," Speddon told them.

The placid Oriental was there, as Ciznik had said. He smiled at Speddon. "Please hold them quiet with gun a moment," he said.

With surprisingly strong arms, he pushed the two girls on to the bunk.
And within half a minute had bound the legs and arms of both securely.

They sat stiffly, faces white as paper,
watching Ling and Speddon.

"What about their traps, Ling?"
Speddon asked.

Ling smiled. "I have handkerchiefs ready. People meeting death sometimes like to talk."

Speddon rubbed his hands nervously. "We oughtn't to have to do this. We'd never have run afoul of these gals if Neal had not got queer on us." He looked along the passagway. "I'm going up above. Don't forget what Ciznik told you."

Ling smiled, and walked across the room. Slowly he opened one of the big port holes wide, and stood there,
his eyes half closed.

"What—what are you going to do?"
Martha cried.

"I hope . . . nothing," the old man said. "But if boat overtakes us, then I must do as Mista Ciznik suggest."

"You can't kill us! They'll find us here and it'll be worse for you than if you let us go!"

Ling's thin eyebrows raised. "Find you?" he repeated, altering his voice in question. The eyes rested on the big port hole with its glass swinging wide. "No-o. They do not find you.

Not until many days, perhaps."

Martha's head seemed to be spinning.
She dared not face Betty.

"But perhaps the boat does not overtake us," Ling said, solicitously. "I have seen this happen many times.
This ship look very old, very slow—
like Ling—but she is really strong.
Below us are good engines. Very new.
Very fast. You still have a most excellent chance."

Most excellent chance! The sinister words rang through Martha's head like a crazy tune. Suppose Ciznik did escape the cutter? What would be best—to be dropped, unknowing, into the black water; or to stay imprisoned with Ciznik?

It was odd how, at this moment,
she thought of Gerry Neal. It was odd how she could not hate him.
Somehow she wished that he was here.
Even though associated with Ciznik he would have found some way to help. Yes, she had been a fool.

"You'd better let me stick with you,"
he had said. "You're in something that's bigger than you realize." He had given her that warning, and she had refused it, had foolishly believed in her strength to fight something which she could not see.

Her mind stumbled longingly back over the days and weeks. She remembered how she and Betty had started out blithely on their vacation to the coast, had been so careless as to find themselves stranded in San Diego. And then to be caught up from their innocent way, whirled into something from which they could not extricate themselves. If only she had never persuaded Betty they should take a vacation together. If only—

But upon some "if," some infinitesimal turn of life, rested all the eventual evils and tragedies of the world. Suddenly Martha wanted to cry out to scream that it wasn't fair, that it mustn't happen—not to Betty, and not to her. She was young and there must be no other moments to live beyond this one. Bright moments, like—like that one on the white sands of Carmel. Then she thought bitterly,
"I don't deserve to live. I'm still in love with him. I'm still in love with him, and all this is what he stands for!"

Open Campaign For Aid Soon

Friendly Help Welfare Association to Start Drive
For Funds May 10

At a meeting of the campaign executive of the Friendly Help Welfare Association yesterday afternoon, progress reports were given by the various chairmen of committees. An intensive, short-term campaign is being prepared to take place from May 10 to 18 inclusive, the objective being $8,500. This sum will be sufficient for all the work of the association until the end of this year, after which it is hoped that the proposed community chest will be functioning.

The sum of $8,500 will be needed to carry on the family welfare work, in which the association is at present engaged. The remaining $2,000 will be set aside for the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp for mothers and children, which will open on June 22.

LIST PREPARED

A list of about 2,200 names is being prepared by A. R. Heiter and N. F.

Farris, and will be divided between sixteen teams of canvassers. It is hoped to have about 100 canvassers in the field when the campaign begins.
The teams are organized in four divisions, the leaders of which are:
Miss Sara Spencer, Duncan McBride,
E. G. Rowbottom and S. J. Clark.
F. E. Winslow is heading a special committee to canvass those from whom the larger contributions are expected. A splendid response has been received to the request for canvassers, all of whom are donating their time without remuneration. The executive is most gratified at this response and at the excellent progress being made in preparation for the campaign.

presumably to get across the track,
when it started and she was injured.
She was taken to Duncan Hospital,

Folk Songs Heard At Evening Session

Catherine Craig and Eleanor Walker Both Win Two Festival Classes; John Kyle Stresses Educational Value of Music in Inaugural Address

Before an audience of 600 assembled in the City Temple, Victoria's eleventh annual Musical Festival, whose classes had begun yesterday morning, had its official opening last night.

Speeches, entertainment by a number of local groups, and competitions in the folk songs of several nations filled the evening's three-and-a-half hour programme.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

John Kyle, director of technical education with the provincial government, gave the inaugural address. He spoke of the three-fold commemoration of the festival—that of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the city of Victoria, the Coronation of King George VI and the memory of the late King George V.

Musical festivals, he said, stimulated and called forth the best efforts of the competitors, and educational experts believed students reflected the best results from motivated studies of the type represented by festival experience. The advice of men of the standing of the adjudicators alone would make entry into the festival worth while, he added.

He saw a steady, healthy development in the Victoria festival at present with numbers of entrants and quality of work growing.

The festivals had educated not only the competitors but also the audiences in their musical appreciation. As a result of this movement educational standards had been changed, and music was now recognized as a subject for matriculation credit in British Columbia.

Next winter school-hour music lessons would be instituted, he said. The education department was realizing that music had in it all the essentials of a well-balanced education.

POSTER CONTEST PRIZES

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Kyle presented prizes in the annual festival poster contest. In handing the awards to the winners he suggested that Victoria might follow the lead of other cities in holding an art festival in conjunction with the musical events.

The recipients of the prizes were Sybil Lee, winner of the Sir Joshua Reynolds Cup; Thibbe Fletcher, Bessie Wong, Jack Bradshaw, Mary Lister and Margaret Mar. Mr. Kyle was introduced by Mrs. J. Heiden Gillespie, president of the Victoria Musical Festival Association. Mrs. Gillespie paid tribute to the memory of the late Harold Samuel and Henry Plunkett-Greene, former adjudicators of the Victoria festival, who passed away during the last year.

ENGLISH FOLK SONGS

The Royal Society of St. George Cup for English folk songs was won by Catherine Craig, to whom the adjudicator, George Dodds, awarded 82 points for her rendering of "Cherry Ripe." S. Leslie Hughes of Langford was second with 80.

In his general comment on this class, Mr. Dodds urged that more care be used in the choice of folk songs. Some of the pieces chosen in this class were not folk songs at all, but products of the Elizabethan and later periods.

There was no such thing, he added, as the correct text of a folk song because of its very nature. In the singing of these songs the story must be brought home to the audience by the performer, and variety was absolutely essential.

Miss Craig, he said, had a beautiful voice, but her selection was not a folk song. Her tone and words were good, but she did not always follow the detail of the score.

RETAINS SCOTTISH CUP

Miss Craig also retained the Gibson Gunn Cup for Scottish folk songs with the exceptionally high mark of 88. She sang "Turn Ye to Me."

Winnie Rees of Puyallup, Wash., came a close second with 86 points for her rendering of "Annie Laurie," and won special praise from the adjudicator for her interpretation and sensitive phrasing.

Dr. J. Frederick Steton, adjudicating this class, stressed that a voice capable of a great variety of moods was essential to folk singing. The folk song must especially "give something of the soil." For this reason competitors should keep to the songs "A lovely song and a lovely quality of voice," was his comment on Miss Craig's performance. Her phrasing was sensitive, and conveyed the mood of the piece excellently, he said.

WELSH FOLK SONGS

Mrs. Cadogan Williams received the Daniel Protheroe Cup, donated by the Victoria Welsh Society for Welsh folk songs. Mr. Dodds awarded her 87 marks for her rendition of Bugel-llo's "Gwenith Gwyn."

Mrs. J. C. Williams was second with 84 marks.

The winner's performance was a fine interpretation of a lovely song. There was plenty of national character and the melodic line was well sustained.

JOHN HART TROPHY

The Hon. John Hart Cup for open competition in Irish folk songs was won by Dorothy Davies, with 88 marks. Last year's holder, Violet Wilson, was awarded 81 marks. Miss Davies sang an adaptation of "Londonderry Air."

The winner's performance was "a beautiful bit of work," although the tempo was a shade too fast, said Dr. Steton in his adjudication.

HIGHEST MARKS SO FAR

With the highest marks so far in the festival, Eleanor Walker retained the Charles Marchand Cup donated by L'Alliance Francaise for French-Canadian folk songs.

For her rendition of "Gabrielle at the Well" she was awarded 90 points. Josephine Charlebois received 89 marks, also higher than any previous score in this year's festival, for her version of "Vive Le Canadienne."

The winner's performance was marked by excellent diction and a fine understanding of the mood of the piece, said Dr. Steton.

In the Irish and the French-Canadian folk-song classes, he added, the audience had obtained a better idea of the meaning of folk singing than in any of the previous classes.

SONGS OF OTHER NATIONS

The A. E. Scurrell challenge cup for open competition in the folk songs of any nation was also won by Miss Walker with 88 marks. She sang a French traditional piece, "Le Roi a Fait Battre Tambour." Catherine Craig was second with 86 marks.

There were eight competitors in this class, singing in as many languages.

Miss Walker's singing was notable by its characterization, expression and variety of color, said the adjudicator.

In his comments on the other singers' work, Mr. Dodds several times raised the question of whether or not some of the songs might be classified as true folk songs.

VARIED PROGRAMME

Non-competitive features on the evening's programme included an English folk song group by the Daughters of England, Primrose Lodge; English and Scottish folk dances by North Ward School pupils, Scottish songs by ladies from First United Church, a Welsh glee group; Irish songs and dances by students of St. Louis College, a Mexican folk song group, directed by Madame Eva Balda, Russian songs and dances led by Florence Gunn and Sonia Slavina, a southern U.S. song group under the direction of Mrs. J. O. Cameron, and a Japanese dance group.

All these groups were in costume, as were many of the performers in the folk-song classes of the various nations.

BELIEVED YOUNGEST CHIEF

Deseronto, Ont.—A. R. Harrington, twenty-three, has taken over his job as chief of police in this Bay of Quinte town. He is believed to be the youngest police chief in Canada. In 1928 he was all-round athletic champion at the local college.

New Adjudication For School Choirs

Elimination of Competitive System and Public Criticism May Be Dangerous, Musical Festival Judge Warns

School choirs and young pianists of both sexes occupied yesterday afternoon's sessions of the Victoria Musical Festival in First United and First Baptist Churches.

The choral contests were marked by a change in the system of adjudication. No marks were given out, nor was the order of the competitors in any class given, only the name of the winning school being announced by the adjudicators.

This change was made at the request of city school officials, members of the festival committee said. The adjudicators were also requested to confine their remarks to generalities, and to offer no criticism of individual schools.

Dr. J. Frederick Steton and George Dodds alternated in judging the choirs, taking the teachers of the groups into an office following each performance for a private review of the work.

SEES RISK IN CHANGE

Dr. Steton, commenting during his first adjudication on the change, warned against the risks which might follow the elimination of healthy competition and constructive criticism.

The David Spencer Limited Challenge Shield for Grade 1 school choirs was retained by last year's winner, Quadra School.

The test pieces were "The Little Nut Tree" and "Jack and Jill." Both pieces were so brief that Dr. Steton asked for encores from each choir.

He gave no formal adjudication, but stood at the piano and demonstrated points in the melody and tempo of the two pieces.

WIN KINSMEN TROPHY

Spring Ridge School carried off the Kinsmen's Club Trophy for Grade 2 choirs. Burnside School, last year's winner, did not compete.

The choirs in this class sang "Oh, Dear, What Can the Matter Be?" and "Bed in Summer."

George Dodds, who adjudicated the class, stressed the need for two things—sure notes and clear words. He made the competing choirs sing together to demonstrate the points in his adjudication.

The class as a whole was good, although the diction was not always clear and there were a few faulty notes, he said.

SINGLE ENTRY

There was only one entry in the class for boys' choirs for the W. H. Wilkerson Challenge Shield. St. Louis College provided the lone choral group.

Mr. Dodds, in a brief adjudication, praised the choir's singing, especially in the first selection, Barrow's "Cavaller Song." The other test piece was Marcello's "Give Ear Unto Me."

CUP IS RETAINED

The Soroptimist Club Cup, for Grade 3 choirs, was retained by Spring Ridge School.

The test pieces were "Golden Slumbers" and "There Stands a Little Man." Dr. Steton, adjudicating on this class, stressed the need for proper expression in the second piece, whose score was unmarked.

He went over various points in both songs, making all the choirs join in humming and singing them.

"Don't be afraid of letting the tone expand—as long as it expands beautifully. And don't forget the beauty of lovely words," he said.

JUNIOR GIRLS' PIANO

Evelyn Druce was awarded first place in the junior girls' piano solo class. Arthur Benjamin awarded her 167 marks. Second place went to Barbara Munro with 165, and third to Lorraine Saul with 162.

The test pieces were Handel's "Allsgut in G" and Farjeon's "Kate Greenaway."

The winner attained a much more eighteenth-century style than the other competitors in the Handel piece, Mr. Benjamin commented. He noted nice phrase shaping and gradation of tone in both pieces.

In his comment on the class as a whole he warned against excessive use of the pedal.

The Grade 3 boys' piano solo class was won by George Rose with 82-84-166. Richard Brown was second with 76-78-154.

"Boys' Round Dance," by Gale, and Opus 72, No. 2 of six pieces for children by Mendelssohn were the test pieces in this class. There were only two competitors.

The winner's performance showed a nice tone and freedom. There was a tendency, however, to slow the ends of the phrases.

Both performers were better in the Mendelssohn piece than in the first, said the adjudicator. He warned against missing notes.

CLOSE FINISH

Ewart McDonald took top honors in the Grade 2 boys' piano solo class with 85 marks. A very close finish marked this class.

Second of the competitors was Eddie Rutherford with 84, and Eric Orme and Edward P. Rowley tied for third place with 83 each.

The test piece was "Dunhill's Bar-

GRADE 3 GIRLS

Top honors in the Grade 3 girls' piano solo class were taken by Gwen Woodcock, to whom Mr. Benjamin awarded 82-80-162 marks for her performance of the two set pieces, Beethoven's "Bagatelle in F Major" and "Aubade," by Leopold Ashton.

Freda Natrass was second with 78-82-160.

The winner's performance showed grace and tone gradation, though there were some awkward bars, said the adjudicator.

The teachers came in for strong criticism by Mr. Benjamin in his adjudication on this class.

"I have to say it—it's one of the worst classes I've heard in Canada—and it's not the children's fault. Most of these children have not been shown how... It is a shame when children who are willing to work are not encouraged to put a little more life into the music," he said.

Most of the performances of the Beethoven piece he described as "like a sausage machine or a barrel-organ." In the second piece the majority completely missed what was a very charming melody, he said.

The endings of these pieces and those in other classes were wrongly played, he said. He reminded the music teachers that endings were unmarked simply because it was taken for granted that they were to be slowed.

He compared the playing of many of the children to "driving a motor car around this beautiful island of yours without taking your eyes from the road and looking at any of the beauty spots."

The "six great haunts of life," which form the homes of all the creatures of the world, are: The open sea, the shore of the sea, the depths of the sea, the fresh waters, the dry land, and the air.

AFRICAN SCENE IN BIG PAGEANT

Meeting of Stanley and Livingstone Included in Empire Tableau

Depicting graphic scenes from highlights of the Empire's history, students of Victoria schools will lend some emphasis to a tableau representing the meeting of David Livingstone and Henry Stanley in the jungles of Africa in the year 1870, as they present their historical pageant in the Royal Victoria Theatre for public showings on May 10 and 11.

Arrangements have been completed for students of George Jay to enact the memorable meeting between the sixty-year-old missionary-explorer, lost in the jungle of Africa in the crusade in which he combined the charting of the Zambesi region with his work in the interests of the blacks.

The scene shows the meeting between the fever-racked and venerable missionary on the shores of Lake Tanganyika.

COLOURFUL SCENE

The unaccustomed accents of the native Swahili, the beat of the drum, the song of the tom tom, the cries of the witch doctor and other characteristic African features will lend color to the spectacle.

The cast of fifty has been chosen from Grades VI and VII of the George Jay School. The actors will include Livingstone (played by Charlie Ede), his two faithful native boys, Sui (David Munro) and Chuma (John Foxgord); his staunch cook and general factotum Hallmah (Harold Heslop); the loyal native warriors with their shields and spears and drums, headed by their chief, Cetiye (Kenneth Graham, Albert Hilton, Kideyuki Iol, Harry Barber, Walter Barber, Donald Bath, Albert Smythe, Alan Coates, Ray Kitley, Lennox Clark, Laverne Sands, Daryl Anderson, Billy Cleasby, Ray Smith, Alan Chalmers), the Witch Doctor (Harry Davies), the drummers (Bill Jones, Ian Cow, Hunter Milne), the native children (Jerry Barber, Jack Henmi, Gerald Mark), and the friendly Arab traders of the district (Frank Leach, Fred Jones, Gee Nom King, Robert Shotton, John DiCastri, Jack Drysdale, Daniel Breenham, Ray Herriot, Gordon Moros, Paul Chan)—Stanley (Kenneth Earl), his Arab boy, Selim (Don Partridge), his two guides (Donald Land, Bill Mark), and his bearers (Joe Smith, Gilbert Oliver, Frank Thomas, Henry Page, George Oddy, George Bath, Jack Cornock, John Goodwin).

House Contracts Let in Nanaimo

Nanaimo, April 28.—Three houses are being erected here at a total cost of $8,000.

H. F. Young, Machlery Street, is building a $3,000 home on Wentworth Street. Steel Brothers being the contractors.

A. Good, Wentworth Street, has placed a contract with Frew and Wilson for a five-room bungalow to cost $3,000.

P. Ford, Pine Street, is the owner of a $2,000 home being erected on Harvey Street.

The backbone of the West African shrew, an animal less than a foot in length, is so strong that it can support the weight of a heavy man without injury. It is unlike that of any other animal in the world.

It takes Balance!

Aged tobaccos are mild. Aged tobaccos are smooth. Balance them, type against type, so that the characteristics of each are perfectly blended and you have a Sweet Caporal. Touch your tongue to the end of an unlighted Sweet Cap—then draw slowly... taste that natural tobacco flavour... tobacco at its best, "au naturel".

Music Salon Is Store Feature

Fletcher Bros. Announce Extension For Piano Displays

Coincident with the spring music festival in Victoria, Fletcher Bros. announce the opening of a fourth floor music salon unequalled in western Canada. All visitors to the music festival are invited to visit the store and see the extensions which have been carried out in order that the piano may be given its rightful setting as the most important of all musical instruments for the home.

"It is a development which we have had under consideration for many months," said James H. Fletcher, "because one of the most gratifying trends of the last twelve months has been the return of interest in the piano." Throughout the country this trend was most noticeable with the introduction of the new vertical grand models. The piano once more became an article of ornamental beauty in the home as well as what it has always been, the basic instrument of music.

"Today it is noticeable that although an entire generation has been enthralled with ease of turning on mechanical music, parents now are determined that the coming generation will know the joy of music of their own creation."

The new piano salon at Fletcher Bros. is not only the largest, but the most luxurious showroom in western Canada, devoted entirely to the presentation of all that is new and interesting in pianos. In addition Fletcher Bros. have set aside a private concert hall where teacher and student may practice in complete seclusion. Other showrooms on this same floor are devoted to the presentation of individual makes of upright and grand pianos.

ECONOMY IS PARTY'S PLAN

Anscomb Says Conservatives Will Make Drastic Cuts in Cost

On June 1 electors of British Columbia have a chance to "tear out by the roots" the coal commission that cost $79,000, the ineffective health insurance commission that cost over $93,000 and the economic council that cost $20,000 per year for the last four years. Herbert Anscomb declared in an address to Ward Five Conservative Association last night.

Mr. Anscomb was confident that Dr. Patterson, leading a party which stood for drastic economy, would sweep to victory.

Hugh Allan said he was sure the public would express disapproval of Hon. G. M. Weir's attempts to "force health insurance down their throats" and of the "colossal extravagance of the New Westminster bridge." Dr. Weir, he said, had been accused of embracing Socialist principles and disseminating radicalism in the schools.

F. A. Willis said one out of every seven persons in British Columbia was being paid by the taxpayers to govern the other six. Dr. Patterson would carry out his pledge to cut costs or government. He urged everyone to turn out on election day and express disapproval of the Liberals.

W. H. M. Haldane, the other speaker, said the government apparently was providing work and wages with its $3,000,000 loan, but the work seemed to be securing votes for the Liberal party.

Hubert Lethaby presided, and Senator R. F. Green made a brief speech urging the party supporters to fight for success.

HELPFUL ADVICE TO ACNE SUFFERERS

For acne pimples affecting the outer or surface layer of the skin, here is advice that will help improve your complexion.

Every night at bedtime, wash your face thoroughly with Resinol Soap and hot water. Do not rub. Follow with a dash of cold water and dry thoroughly but gently. Then apply Resinol Ointment to the affected skin and leave it on all night. Do this every night, and watch the improvement.

Local treatment is advised as a helpful aid in acne cases, and for more than 40 years the ingredients of Resinol have been found effective.

Resinol benefits by treating the irritated oil ducts, where most surface pimples start. In this way it aids healing of such pimples and also tends to check their recurrence. Buy Resinol Ointment and Soap in any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 12, Baltimore, Md.

Alberta Farmers Say Government Scheme Needs Speeding Up

Calgary, April 28.—Appeals for seed grain and feed are pouring into the office of the United Farmers of Alberta here, farmers complaining they can not get their requirements from the Alberta government according to Robert Gardiner, president of the U.F.A.

Unless immediate aid is received, Mr. Gardiner and Norman Priestley, vice-president of the U.F.A., said, thousands, possibly hundreds of thousands of acres of wheatlands will go unseeded this year.

1. SAVES CARBON SCRAPES

"A"—cylinder head of car driven 6,000 miles with other oils. Note heavy carbon causing car to "ping" badly. "B"—same cylinder head 3,000 miles after motor was switched to Triton. Most carbon has burned away. Knocks have stopped. Here's photographic proof that Triton cleans out carbon as you drive!

2. SAVES GASOLINE

Many cars have spark retarded to suppress carbon "ping." Triton allows correct advance setting of spark—without "pinging." Result: You get full power and efficiency your motor was designed to give. A more efficient motor means extra mileage from every tankful of gasoline.

3. SAVES OIL DRAINS

Triton saves oil because it has extreme resistance to "breaking down" or oxidizing. It is a safe, full-bodied oil long after many oils are worn out. Should you neglect to drain crankcase at customary time, don't worry about Triton. It protects motor during last few hundred miles just as it does during first few hundred.

4. SAVES MOTOR WEAR

Hundreds of fleet operators, private individuals, and technically-minded persons, who keep accurate cost records, report Triton saves them money—reduces motor wear, minimizes repairs, lengthens time between valve grinds and overhauls, gives freedom from carbon troubles.

The concluding meeting of the season of the Victoria Toastmasters' Club will be held this evening at the Y.M.C.A. It will be the last of the current year, but the organization will hold meetings once a month during the summer.

A remand until next Friday was granted in the City Police Court this morning in the case of the Meridian Mining Company, Vancouver, charged with failing to file a return of prospectus with provincial officials, as required under the Mineral Act.

Harold G. Bourne was awarded $215 special damages and $30 general damages against the Quarter Cab Co. Ltd. and Ernest Day, in a County Court judgment handed down by Judge H. H. Shandley today. Judge Shandley ruled the defendants both liable in the suit which arose from an accident in which Mr. Bourne was struck and knocked from his bicycle by the defendant company's car driven by the defendant Day on the morning of November 20 last.

Identification Of Accused Challenged

To give him an opportunity to produce witnesses to prove he was not at a local dance hall last Saturday night a remand until Friday was granted John Caird in the City Police Court this morning. He is charged with the theft of a car owned by Mrs. O. Currie, Burdett Avenue, which was parked on Mears Street on Saturday night.

Caird was charged with Jack Humphreys, the former pleading not guilty and the latter guilty.

Constable Roy Woolley testified he saw Caird and Humphreys at the dance hall Saturday night between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. Caird challenged the testimony and asked for a remand to bring witnesses to substantiate it.

James Scouler, truck driver, who was committed for trial yesterday on a charge of causing grievous bodily harm to Albert Woods by negligent driving, was charged in the City Police Court this morning with failing to have a current year's driving license at the time of the accident on Pandora Avenue in which Woods was injured.

He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 with an option of three days' imprisonment.

Exceptional Marks In Festival Session

Winifred G. Applegate Wins First Place in Grade A Soprano Class; Improvement in Singing of Boys Is Noted By Adjudicator

Consistently high marks in all classes featured this morning's triple session of the Victoria Musical Festival, with vocal duet and senior solo classes at First United Church, boys' vocal solo contests in First United schoolroom, and junior piano solo, duet and trio at First Baptist Church.

Top place in the soprano, Grade A class, and with it the honor of competing in the championship class on Saturday afternoon, was awarded to Winifred G. Applegate with 84-85-169 marks. Eleanor Hoson, Duncan, was second with 82-84-166, and Sheila Mary Conway third with 82-83-165.

There were two test pieces in this class, "Thine Only," by Carl Bohm, and "Cupid," by Wilfrid Sanderson. The winner had a very fine voice indeed, said George Dodds, the adjudicator. He noted good rhythmic singing and a fine sense of words.

In his comment on the whole class Mr. Dodds warned against singers "singing themselves out" in pieces such as the first of the two set for this contest, "Always sing within your powers," he warned. Conservation of energy was one of the secrets of concert singing.

The second song was a lesson in dainty singing and the delicate use of the voice, said Mr. Dodds. All three singers treated it too heavily. He reminded the singers that intensity of tone and intensity of singing were not inter-related, and that often the most dramatic effects were obtained with soft singing and a full use of consonants.

DUNCAN GIRL WINS

In the soprano class, Grade B, first place was taken by a Duncan girl, May Compton-Lundie, with 84 marks. Iris Smith was second with 83.

The test piece was Cyril Scott's "Daffodils."

The winner was commended by the adjudicator for her clarity of words and care in detail. This test piece, said Mr. Dodds, was a test of daintiness rather than tone, and both singers in the class handled it well. He regretted there were not more entries for contests of this sort provided valuable platform experience and a fuller appreciation of the songs involved.

"I advise all young singers to come in and have a shot—winning is a very unimportant matter," he said.

VANCOUVER TEAM TOP

A Vancouver team, Patsy Halliday and Marjorie Burns, won first place in the class for duet by girls, boys or girl and boy in the eleven to sixteen years age group, with 84 points. Clemency Ord and Robert Wilkinson were second with 83.

At the end of the class the adjudicator, George Dodds, assembled the six competing couples on the stage and conducted them as a choir in the test piece, Rathbone's "Pipes of Pan," illustrating various errors in the singing of the competitors.

All the contestants had a good idea of song, but in some cases they lacked the proper balance between the voices, the time was not always quite safe, and in some cases there was a lack of gradation in the voices, he said in his adjudication.

Duet work could give a unique type of training in balance and restraint, he added.

The winning team had a pretty tone and natural quality, and kept well together, with good tonal gradation.

SINGLE ENTRY
There was only a single entry in the class for duet under twelve years, singing Shaw's "Trip and Go." The team was Marie Lock and Dorothy Smith, to whom Mr. Dodds gave 82 marks.

They had a pleasant tone and good words, and managed an awkward change of time well. Their pitch was faulty in one place, Mr. Dodds said.

The class for senior mixed duets was postponed until this afternoon when the only competing team was unable to reach the hall in time.

BETTER BOYS' SINGING

A distinctly better quality of singing in the boys' classes than that heard during his last visit two years ago was noted by Dr. J. Frederick Staton.

With the high mark of 88, Norman Tipper and Audrey Mills won the class for vocal solo by a boy in the eleven to sixteen years bracket, accompanied by a girl of the same age group. Edward J. Hulford and Frances M. Rigby came second with 87 marks.

The test piece was Schubert's "Hark, Hark, the Lark."

In his comment on the winner's performance, Dr. Staton noted considerable tonal charm, but not quite full ease on the part of the vocalist. "A very sincere lad in his work," was his remark on the performance with which Raymond Sinclair won the class for boys' vocal solos under twelve years of age. For his rendition of Handel's "Where E'er You Walk," Dr. Staton awarded him 83 marks. Gerald Elliott was second with 81.

WINS WITH 88 MARKS

Another exceptionally high score was that of 88, awarded to Edward Hulford in the class for vocal solos by boys over eleven years of age. The test piece was Handel's "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

Robert Macdonald was second of the ten competitors with 86, and Robert Wilkinson a close third with 85.

Great purity of sound in the winner's performance was noted by Dr. Staton, and authority in words and tone. This rendition led him to comment: "The great tragedy of a boy's voice is that it is at its best just before it becomes uncertain and breaks."

In his general remarks on the boys' classes the adjudicator stressed the need for a more careful definition of

ROCKLAND IN GARDEN WEEK

Homes in Saanich Also Visited Today; Work Starts at Willows

Gardens in Saanich and on Rockland Avenue were visited by ticket-holders to the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association's Spring Flower Show today.

Local flower enthusiasts in their tour of the lower island beauty spots were joined by over fifty out-of-town visitors. The main batch of outsiders for the Spring Garden Week, however, is not expected until tomorrow.

Two hundred will arrive then, and special conducted tours of local gardens have been arranged for them.

The homes visited this afternoon included Government House, the residence of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Rockland Avenue gardens of Senator G. H. Barnard, A. B. Morkill, A. C. Burdick, D. J. Angus, W. Hobart Molson and Mrs. W. C. Nichol. Automobiles also took many visitors to the lovely gardens of J. A. Grant and H. L. Salmon on the West Saanich Road, and the garden of Rev. M. Bruce on Mount Newton Cross Road.

A tour of local commercial gardens, including the Lake View Lily Farm, Rockholme Garden and Prece and Nichol, was arranged for out-of-town visitors this morning.

Six gardens in the Oak Bay district are open tomorrow. They are as follows: Major Keith Macdougall, 1670 Hampshire Road; Mrs. C. F. Armstrong, 1630 York Place; A. I. Goward, 1603 York Place; Mrs. Curtis Sampson, 1003 Newport Avenue; R. B. Heaven, 1176 Beach Drive; Capt. G. F. Hepburn, 1069 Beach Drive.

Owing to the popularity of the evening lectures during Garden Week, the rock garden lecture of John Grant, F.R.H.S., on Thursday evening, will be given in the main ballroom of the Empress Hotel, instead of the Princess Louise room.

Meanwhile the huge main building at the Willows rings with the noise of an army of workers preparing for the opening of the Spring Flower Show on Friday afternoon. Scaffolding is being built and work has already begun on some of the larger displays.

Tons of earth and rock are being used in constructing the Oak Bay Rock Garden Club's exhibit, which will again be the feature of the show. Many other colorful displays are being arranged.

vowel sounds. The tendency to mispronounce vowels had the effect of making choral work "plebeian," he said.

EXCEPTIONAL SCORE

With the remarkable score of 90-90-180, William Bernard Hick was awarded first place in the junior boys' piano solo class for his performance of Schumann's "In Memoriam" and "March Wind" by Swinestead.

Arthur Benjamin, adjudicator of the instrumental section of the festival, called his work "most promising," adding the tone was well balanced, the gradation excellent and the atmosphere splendid.

Robin Wood was second in this class with 178 points, another exceptional mark.

PIANO TRIO CLASS

Brightness, good balance, phrasing and rhythm were noted by Mr. Benjamin in the work of the winners of the piano trio class for players under twelve years of age. The team was made up of Irene Tait, Muriel Sprague and Helen Price, who were awarded 88 points for their performance of "Dancing in the Sunshine" by Bilbro. Winnifred Pritchard, Audrey Robertson and Trevor Barlow came second in this class.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon in Sands Mortuary Ltd. at 2 o'clock. Rev. Arthur Blesch-lager will officiate and the remains will be laid at rest in Colwood Burial Park.

CHRISTINA B. OMUNDSON.
Many sorrowing friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Christina B. Omundson held yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. M. Nivn conducting the service. The hymns "Ye Lord Is My Shepherd" and "Abide With Me," were sung. The casket and hearse were covered with beautiful flowers. The pallbearers were as follows: Ernest Butler, Charles F. Baker, C. Jackson, Stewart Clark, E. Philbrook and H. Currie. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

OLGA NADEJDA SIMMONS.
So numerous were the floral tributes at the funeral here this morning of Mrs. Olga Nadejda Simmons, who passed away in Vancouver on Monday morning, that an extra car was required for their conveyance. The service was held at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Rev. Father C. T. Albury celebrating mass in the presence of a large congregation of sorrowing friends. The pallbearers were Major V. McKenna, George Paulin, Capt. A. O. Cook and Campbell Forbes. Interment was in the family plot in Rose Bay Cemetery.

A triquet daffodil, its three stems moulded into one, was brought up to the news-room of The Times today by Michael O'Connell, Glanford Avenue, Saanich.

Fortunate is the home where there is a Piano!

In the home where there is a piano, there you'll find a strange, compelling power that binds parents and children together. There, the young mother sings the child to sleep, the boy or girl begins at the piano their venture into realms of gold... and friends, light-hearted, gay, repeat the songs of youth. The music of the piano brings to every home a rich measure of joy, and for that reason the coming generation will know this greatest of all musical instruments more intimately than ever before. At this old-established piano store more people are inquiring every day for instruments that will be treasured in their homes for years to come.

Heavy Selling With Sharp Declines On Wall Street Today

Associated Press
New York, April 28.—Selling forces blasted stock markets today for losses of one to more than seven points in one of the sharpest onslaughts in a year.

Many new lows for 1937 or longer were registered in an exciting early downturn when the high-speed ticker tape at times fell four minutes or so behind floor dealings.

Offerings dried up somewhat at intervals and extreme declines were checked moderately. Momentum again picked up on the downside in the final half hour.

Wall Street's attack of nerves followed advice from Washington indicating a move by the administration to tighten monopoly laws as one means of putting brakes on an inflationary boom in commodity and other prices. Head was also paid to the President's warnings on public stock speculation and the dangers of spiraling living costs.

Further liquidation by London and continental houses, badly burned by slumping staples, was seen as a factor in the setback.

Transfers approximated $2,500,000 shares.

Another break in commodities, especially rubber futures, added to the pessimistic picture of the boardroom.

U.S. Government securities met support but corporate loans drifted lower.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
Thirty Industrials—170.13, off 4.39.
Twenty rails—56.61, off 1.33.
Twenty utilities—28.38, off 1.04.
Forty bonds—100.79, off 0.04.

Fractional Gains On Winnipeg List

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, April 28.—Widely-moving wheat prices recovered from early losses on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today in light and erratic trading. Sale of a cargo of Canadian wheat to Europe brought support while rye price moved sharply higher.

At the close values were 1/2% lower to 1/2% higher, May at 81.20, July at 81.27 and October at 81.16, to 81.13.

Prices broke sharply in early trading in sympathy with overseas weakness, lower securities in North America and absence of export buying.

After dull trading with May wheat almost 4 cents lower, a report revealed exporters had sold one cargo of Canadian wheat to Europe. This brought out buying to absorb light offerings and prices recovered.

Export purchases were estimated around 260,000 bushels.

Rye prices moved independent of wheat on buying believed to be covering of export sales made recently to Germany. Rye prices were almost 5 cents higher in late trading.

Domestic closed 1/2% to 3/4% lower. Buena Aires at noon was 1 to 1 1/2 cents lower.

Cash wheat trading was dull. Trading in coarse grains with the exception of rye, was slow.

BONDS FIRM AT NEW YORK

Associated Press
New York, April 28.—In spite of a few sharp declines in speculative ratings the bond market bore itself well today in the face of pronounced weakness in the share list.

United States governments were higher.

In the foreign section the general trend was down, with losses running to more than a point in Cuban 5 1/2 and Polish 7s.

Marine Museum Is Officially Opened

King George Goes By Thames to Greenwich and Is Cheered By Thousands Of Londoners

London, April 28—Smiling under a radiant sun and acclaimed by thousands lining the banks of the river, King George and Queen Elizabeth traveled down the Thames from Westminster to Greenwich yesterday to inaugurate the new National Maritime Museum. They were accompanied by Princess Elizabeth, their presumptive heir.
Long before their arrival at Westminster the embankments, stairways and bridges were filled by the crowd. The trip was made in the motor launch of Vice-Admiral Edward R.O.R. Evans, with the Royal Standard flying.

After the King had talked on the dock with Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, the vessel moved down the river conveyed by four light torpedo vessels of the new type recently adopted by the navy.
At the edge of the city the crowd was almost as dense as at Westminster. Thousands awaited arrival of the King on lawns bordering the river.
When the vessel docked near the Naval College at Greenwich the mayor of that municipality read an address of welcome to the King who expressed his thanks, going by automobile to the museum, where Queen Mary awaited with other members of the Royal Family.

Lord Stanhope, chairman of the museum trustees, and Admiral Sir George Hope greeted the Royal Party at the museum.
After congratulating the organizers of the museum and wishing it prosperity, the King declared it open.
The museum is devoted to the history of British sea power. It will house a magnificent collection of seascapes and paintings of famed sailors, both of navy and of the merchant fleets. Early navigating instruments will form part of the collection.

Mementoes of Admiral Lord Nelson in the museum include his sword and the coat he wore when fatally wounded at Trafalgar and originals of famous paintings of the hero.

Magnificently built models of Britain's warships from original sailing vessels down to the age of steam will be on view with paintings of Drake, Rodney and others who made history on the seas.
The King was given such an ovation from the passing thousands on his return trip by automobile that the drive to Buckingham Palace took an hour and forty minutes.
